

CATHOLIC FIDELITY IN TIMES OF CRISIS

Over the past several years, Cardinal Burke has spoken frequently about the crisis of faith within the Church. This crisis, at once moral, doctrinal, and liturgical, has seemed to find sudden expression in the past few months here in the United States. Cardinal Burke said in a recent interview to EWTN, “The Catholic Church in the United States is undergoing possibly one of the worst crises that it has ever experienced.”

This crisis has the power to disorient and unmoor us unless we are rooted firmly in the Church’s tradition. During the Spring Semester, Carl Wolk, theology teacher at Providence Academy, will be offering a lecture series on some of the greatest crises in Church History, how Catholics kept the faith, and what lessons can be learned for today.

DATES

- January 31, 6pm: The Arian Crisis, St. Athanasius, and the Defense of Tradition
- February 28, 6pm: The Anglican Schism, the Prayer Book Rebellion, and the Defense of the Sacred Liturgy
- March 28, 6pm: The French Revolution, The Vendée, and the Defense of the Social Order
- April 25, 6pm: The Spirit of the 19th Century, Catholic Counter-Revolution, and Devotion to the Chair of St. Peter